here is the best of sheenagh pugh s early work a generous and wide ranging selection from her first four collections together with two dozen previously unpublished pieces notable inclusions are the prize winning ms a and intercity lullaby and the much anthologised sometimes throughout a lively and enquiring mind is brought to bear on how we live and die and how we might live more equitably sheenagh pugh approaches her subject unpredictably through norse saga and snooker apartheid and falling tortoises in a poetry of invention and conviction at the heart of the book is the earth studies sequence a history of the world in 19 poems and the first major environmental poem of the green era set in the indeterminate future it explores the rise of human civilisation and abuse of the earth following them to their logical conclusion the death of the planet ironic lyrical penetrating these poems typify the craft and passion of sheenagh pugh's writing selected poems ends with a section of pugh's much admired translations of german poets such as simon dach andreas gryphius and christian hofmann von hofmannswaldau in this her twelfth collection noted poet sheenagh pugh steps into a new northern landscape the shetland islands with poems steeped in the wilder weathers and views of rugged coastlines sweeping sea vistas and the hardy historical characters who have inhabited these lands a lovely pared down sparseness and an elegaic quality informing this new work the author's characteristic dry humour is also present she is a poet who considers too accessible to be the best sort of compliment sheenagh pugh's work has as much to offer the general reader as it does the specialist who will admire her artful use of traditional forms afternoons go nowhere is poet sheenagh pugh's tenth collection an acute understanding of the human condition enlivens these poems the foibles of historical kings queens and commoners are exposed to her sharply scrutinising eye there is a notable sequence of poems about canadian provinces as well as work inspired by her home in shetland if the post of poet laureate was allocated on the basis of popularity carol ann duffy would have been the first woman to hold this prestigious post like philip larkin in his day duffy is both a poet respected by many academics and teachers and widely read and enjoyed by children and adult readers of poetry this is the first full length collection of essays on the poetry of carol ann duffy approaching and exploring her work from a variety of literary theoretical perspectives including feminism masculinity national identity and post structuralism this lively anthology situates duffy s poems in relation to current debates about the state value and social relevance of contemporary british poetry responding to the demands of the framework for teaching english years 7 9 within the context of the revised national curriculum the level best series offers a carefully structured and motivating approach to english for key stage 3 poem for the day two is a repeat of the formula which made poem for the day such a well loved favourite there are 366 poems one for each day of the year and one for leap years to delight inspire and excite chosen for their magic and memorability the poems in this anthology are an exultant mix of old and new from across the world poems to learn by heart and take to heart in this refreshing and inspiring book phil roberts asserts that poetry like music is based on sound and so close attention should be paid to its rhythms and metrical patterns he illustrates his points with lively examples ranging from nursery rhymes and limericks to recent experimental forms as well as familiar pieces from over the centuries the book concludes with a millennium anthology a salute to the poetry of the past thousand years including pieces from england ireland scotland and wales as well as australia canada new zealand and the usa

poetry geography gender examines how questions of place identity and creative practice intersect in the work of some of wales best known contemporary poets including gillian clarke gwyneth lewis ruth bidgood and sheenagh pugh merging traditional literary criticism with cultural political and geographical analysis alice entwistle shows how writers different senses of relationship with wales its languages history and imaginative as well as political geography feeds the form as well as the content of their poetry her innovative critical study thus takes particular interest in the ways in which author text and territory help to inform and produce each other in the culturally complex and confident small nation that is twenty first century wales the concurrent tenures of gillian clarke as national poet of wales carol ann duffy as uk poet laureate liz lochhead as scots makar and paula meehan as ireland professor of poetry defied historic rifts between women poetry and nation this book explores the extraordinary changes these women fought to achieve as each made her way from marginalised poetess of the 1970s to laureate at the heart of cultural establishment in the 21st century it looks at how they revitalised these public offices and explores their interventions in contemporary geopolitics and national self understanding it considers how they shaped their roles by engaging with poetic icons of the past by linking poetry and education and by joining poetry with politics elisions displacements journeys memories of journeys dreams this collection of poems by sheenagh pugh has a pervasive elegiac quality known for her incisive narratives many of these new poems work more by implication than explication renowned for her use of traditional meter clarity of style and originality of subject matter this is the most complete collection of pugh s poems to date including works from the past 25 years and organized chronologically this volume features poems that are reflective subtly persuasive and in which themes are often subverted truisms reversed and cliches overthrownrevealing a skilled yet unobtrusive poetic voice at the height of her career by evolving new techniques to explore today s most pressing issues environmental destruction and the damage inflicted on the third world by global capitalism contemporary welsh poets are making some of the most exciting poetry in britain in addition to investigating these new methods of poetic inquiry ian gregson in the new poetry of wales explores the issue of language a particularly urgent concern for these poets who must choose between writing in english or welsh with penetrating analyses of a range of new poets including robert minhinnick and gwyneth lewis the former welsh poet laureate gregson s book is an invaluable introduction to a robust field
